REPORT OF POLYGRAPH EXAMINATION
POLYGRAPH CASE # 2009-173

Ref: Joseph Loomis

On December 15, 2009 a polygraph examination was given to Joseph Loomis. The purpose of the examination was to determine if the subject was truthful when giving the statement about the sell of his business.

Prior to conducting the polygraph examination, the polygraph instrument was explained to the subject. He appeared and acknowledged to understand and was cooperative. He was informed that the examination was being recorded. The technique used is referred to as the Zone Comparison Test and utilized control questions and relevant issue questions.

During a pretest interview Mr. Loomis said that he recently sold a business called NEI to a business named Intersections. He stated that he is being accused of fraud during the purchase.

THE FOLLOWING RELEVANT QUESTIONS WERE USED IN THE EXAM:

QUESTION #1. Did you send John Scanlon and e-mail on October 16, 2007 regarding Novartis' cancellation of services? Answer: Yes

QUESTION #2. During the due diligence process did you purposely withhold any information from intersections? Answer: No

QUESTION #3. During the due diligence process did you conspire with [redacted] falsify NEI's financial books? Answer: No

A numerical system is used in the evaluation of the Polygraph Charts, the possible results include one of the following:

INDEFINITE: No opinion of truth or deception is given by the examiner.

TRUTHFUL: The subject was truthful regarding the relevant issue

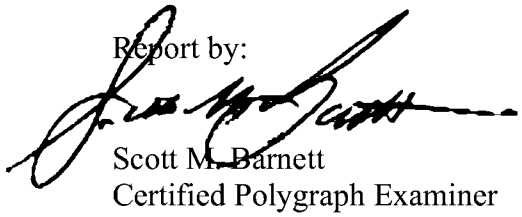

DECEPTION: The subject was deceptive regarding the relevant target issue

The aggregate score on the polygraph test for Joseph Loomis indicates the following:

Question number 1. Truthful
Question number 2. Truthful
Question number 3. Truthful:

It is the final opinion of the polygraph examiner that the subject is Truthful when he answers questions regarding the target area.
